

ANIXTER + COMMSCOPE®

Celebrate. Collaborate. Innovate.

Today: Anixter + CommScope

Join a truly global team offering true competitive advantages.

Thirty years ago, Anixter and CommScope saw an opportunity. CommScope made high-quality cabling products; Anixter made sure IT products reached the clients in the most customer-friendly way. The synergy and the potential were obvious. Why not work together? So, in 1984, the two companies established a formal partnership based on the idea that teamwork works better.

Over the past three decades, this partnership has evolved from a simple network cabling business into a worldwide community led by experienced, thoughtful professionals utilizing world-renowned laboratories, offering a broad, deep portfolio of network infrastructure solutions. This mixture of global experience, deep insight and local expertise works.

While our shared success merits recognition, the future demands creative innovation—a new way of looking at ourselves, our business and you, our clients—that confidently propels your business forward through meaningful competitive advantages.
