

Introducing new imVision® System Manager Software distribution method

Internal announcement

CommScope announces a new way to provide better software delivery for imVision System Manager software. No longer will CDs with outdated software be shipped to customers. Effective October 1, 2015, imVision System Manager purchasers will receive a certificate of license which will allow the user to download the latest and greatest version of the software.

Improvements include:

- Latest code base
- Quicker turnaround time
- No need for patching software right after installation
