Expertise To Support Your Safety Needs

From the stock room to the sales floor, worker health and safety is imperative to maintaining productive, profitable retail operations.

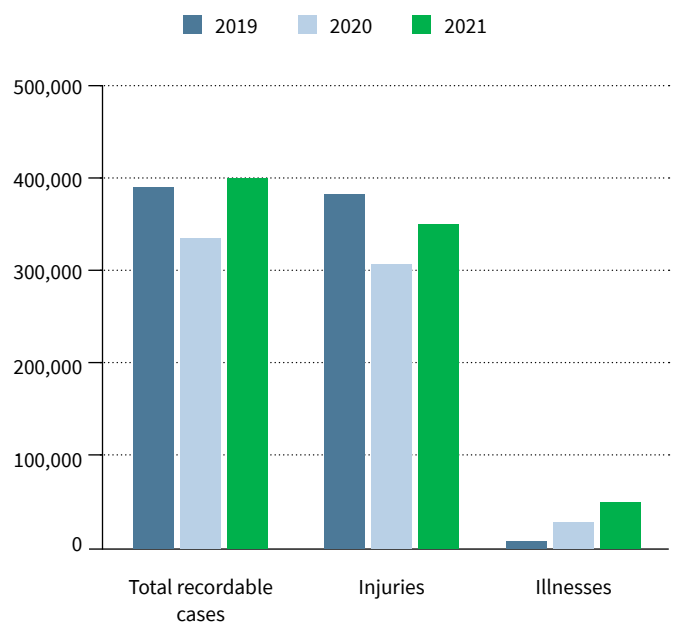

In the fiercely competitive global retail industry, the combined injury and illness rate can often exceed that in the construction industry, with the most common safety challenges including overexertion injuries, musculoskeletal disorders, improper lifting, slips, trips, falls, cuts and lacerations.

You can rely on Wesco Anixter's safety experts to help keep safety a priority in your retail organisation, by offering a suite of comprehensive, customisable solutions to help mitigate workplace risks, improve productivity and ensure your competitive edge.
