

The way we work may have changed in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic, but our responsibility to provide a safe and healthful workplace for our employees has not.

Is your workplace prepared to welcome back employees?
Do you have the policies and procedures in place to prevent the spread of COVID-19 in the workplace or to respond if an employee tests positive?

From designing socially distant work spaces to employee health screenings, if you need assistance preparing your workplace for these uncertain times, WESCO and Anixter Safety Advisory Services can help.

WESCO and Anixter Safety Advisory Services team of experienced safety professionals can help you apply the key components of the Center for Disease Control's pandemic prevention guidelines to your workplace, regardless of your industry. Our safety experts can help you develop and implement the following:

- COVID-19 Workplace Risk Assessment
Have you determined the level of risk your employees face? Depending on their job function, employees face varying levels of risk of contracting COVID-19. Employers should perform a thorough risk assessment including concerns like the industry type, ability to socially distance and available PPE to clearly understand their risk.
- Infection Control and Prevention Plan
After a risk assessment has been completed, employers must develop a comprehensive plan to reduce the risk of COVID-19 spread to their employees. WESCO and Anixter Safety Advisory Services will utilize the Hierarchy of Controls to help your workplace develop a plan to keep workers safe.
- Cleaning and Disinfection Protocols
From day to day cleaning to a major disinfection effort following a confirmed positive case, the key to a good cleaning and disinfection protocol is to be proactive. Our team can help you develop a protocol and source the materials you need to ensure a clean, sanitary workplace.
- Employee Training
Working during a pandemic is not "business as usual." Employees must be trained not only on your company's COVID-related procedures, but also on the importance of following them. WESCO and Anixter Safety Advisory Services can help develop and deliver effective employee training at your site or remotely.

There is no doubt that these are challenging times, but with WESCO and Anixter Safety Advisory Services keeping your employees safe doesn't have to be a challenge. Even if you have started some aspects to a program, we can help fill in all the gaps to help keep your business running smoothly and your employees safe.
